"The quality of mercy is not strain'd,
It droppeth as the gentle rain from Heaven
Upon the place beneath. It is twice bless'd;
It blesseth him that gives and him that takes."

"Though Justice be thy plea, consider this,
That in the course of justice, none of us
Should see salvation; we do pray for mercy;
And that same prayer doth teach us all
To render the deeds of mercy."

—Shakespeare.

If ever there was a time when the quality of mercy is needed to lighten the world's crushing load of arrogance, selfishness and plain cruelty, that time is now, and, as the American Red Cross roll call rings out on peaceful American air, that call should find immediate echo in the hearts of American citizens everywhere. As usual, Loudoun County is doing her cheerful bit in this great work of "Drawing a strong net of mercy through a sea of unspeakable pain" (Woodrow Wilson), and to that end has announced the annual meeting of the Loudoun County Chapter of the Red Cross, in the school auditorium here Monday afternoon, October 14, at 3:30. Reports of the past year's activities will be heard at this meeting, a Board of Directors will be named and the coming year's agenda will be planned. All Chapter members are entitled to a vote. Following administration of business, a prominent speaker Mr. Ramon Eaton, from National Headquarters in Washington, will address the assembly.

Mayor Smith will stage an "At Home" to a score or more of motorists in the near future. Admission will be by card (police), distribution of which was made Saturday afternoon and night for violations of traffic rules and regulations. The Mayor and City Fathers are to be congratulated upon vastly improved traffic conditions here in the past

Sylvestre Exhibits Top Performance At Mill Creek

The Annual Mill Creek Hunter Trials and Landowners' Party was held Sunday, October 6, near Millburn, Ill. and as usual brought out the crack working hunters who go regularly with the Mill Creek harrier pack. It is a delightful corinthian day that this hunter trial has grown to, with a great percentage of owners riding their own hunting horses.

Mrs. Edward H. Bennett's Sylvestre winner of the lightweight in the morning, paired with Roger C. Hyatt's Reconstruction, winner of the middle and heavyweight, in the afternoon in the championship event, turned in a brilliant effort over the mile long natural hunting country course to defeat the Lake Forest

Consistent Pamuck Declared Champion At Farmington

Huntley Glen Awarded Jumper Championship As Well As Reserve In Hunter Division

Mrs. Thomas Renwick of Charlottesville, Virginia, rode her own chestnut gelding Pamuck to sufficiently consistent performances throughout both days of the 8th Annual Farmington Hunt Club Horse Show last Friday and Saturday, October 4 and 5, to be among the four eligibles called into the ring by the judges for the hunter championship preliminary. Consequently when Alfred G. Allen, M. F. H., Rufus Finch and Col. Pleas B. Rodgers pinned this Farmington hunter and handsome chestnut son of Sweep All-Mary Marvin 1st in this deciding event and immediately afterwards had the flowing tricolor placed on his headstall their decision received a hearty round of applause from the packed stands. Reserve went to Gay Blade, 6-year-old bay gelding owned by Mrs. Austin Jennings of Westport, Conn., and ridden by James Blackwell. Gay Blade had been awarded 2nd in the preliminary, while 3rd and 4th went to Mrs. W. Haggin Perry's bay mare Huntley Glen and W. A. Rinehart's chestnut mare Miss Harvey.

Huntley Glen was promptly called back to the judge's stand to receive the jumper championship as well. Continued on Page Twenty-four

Holystone Performs In Winning Way At Piping Rock

Excellent Hunter Course Tests Metal Of Entries In 38th Annual Show In Locust Valley

"I don't know Art, but I know what I like," is a remark that always antagonizes; but the sting almost goes out of it when the theory is applied to a horse show, as it was last week, and has been for the past thirty-eight years, at Piping Rock. The committee there, headed by superman Harvey Gibson, never go near another show, and only know enough about them to make theirs different. The prize list, judges, weather and winners go on from year to year; but so do the steady increase of top horses, the kind and charitable treatment of those forgotten men, the exhibitors; and the Monday morning consensus that really the best horses did win again.

The outside course is a real test for a hunter, long enough to gallop over, big enough to keep the hedgehoppers home; with enough turns to label the puller beyond doubt. To take up the classes separately would be a long, and very repetitious, dull recital; let us then discuss the luminaries, which brings us at once to Holystone. His first few efforts were fruitless. He seemed very keen and overfresh, and was running down under his fences a bit, but after the sun crossed the yard arm the se-

Huntingdon Valley Sees Coq Bruyere Return To Racing

John Strawbridge's Son Of *Coq Gaulois Defeats Coq Noir In Timber Feature

BY R. P. W. HARRISON

Coq Bruyere, 1938's leading timber-topper and one of the greatest post-and-rail horses in the history of the American Hunt Meetings, returned to racing at Justa Farm Saturday, October 5th to triumph by a short ½ length margin over Edward M. Cheston's trim, black Coq Noir in the stirring 24th renewal of the 3 mile post-and-rail test for the Huntingdon Valley Challenge Cup, feature event of the Huntingdon Valley Hunt's 30th annual race meeting. This was the first time that John Strawbridge's veteran grey had gone postward since he pulled up very lame in last fall's running of the Monmouth County Hunt Gold Cup, when he hobbled across the finish 3rd to Allison Stern's Lucier and Manton B. Metcalf's Tres Bon. Coq Bruyere had won his last hunt cup victory in the 1939 running of the Pennsylvania Hunt Cup at Whitmarsh in which he scored his third successive win under Mr. George Strawbridge, who wore the green and white silks again last Saturday.

The day was absolutely ideal and more than 5,000 Philadelphia hunt meeting goers crowded the vantage points of Justa Farm to view the five closely contested flat and steeplechase events, run over the ½ mile dirt track and the plush, green turf of the George W. Elkins.

CUB HUNTING

By A. Henry Higginson, M. F. H.

I have often thought that a foxhound must be a peculiarly discerning animal; for, believe it or not, hounds know when they leave the kennels whether they are going hunting, or merely for exercise. The men's clothes are the same, or should be, for it is essential, except in very hot weather, that the men should wear their scarlet when exercising hounds on the road. To be sure there is a difference in the head gear, for caps are never worn except when hunting; but one could hardly expect a foxhound to be so quick-sighted as to notice the difference between a hunting cap and some other head gear. It may be that there is something else, an intangible feeling, spirit, call it what you will, that pervades the whole establishment on the first morning of cub-hunting. But old hounds do know, and I suppose they tell the young ones. The whole spirit of the pack is different.

Hounds should not have been fed for twenty-four hours preceding hunting, that may have something to do with their knowledge of what is to come. If you, or your Huntsman, as the case may be, have done your work well, there will be no need of couples or collars or other restraining impedimenta. Don't say, "Oh, that is an English fallacy; we can't do that with American Hounds," because that's all nonsense. I have seen one American pack come along the road with as good manners as any in Great Britain, and I do not doubt there are many more, though there were not twenty-five or thirty years ago. Do not allow your huntsman to keep his hounds all jammed up in a little bunch as they travel along the road. That is not control; it is herding; and it is herding that kills the natural dash and initiative

7 Races Planned For Monmouth On October 19

Entry blanks listing larger purses than usual and a new gold cup have been sent to leading horsemen of the country for the 15th Annual race classic of the Monmouth County Hunt Racing Association which will be held on October 19th at the picturesque Red Bank estate of Mr. and Mrs. Amory L. Haskell.

An interesting slate of 7 races has been planned by the race meet committee, headed by W. Strother Jones. The first two races will run about half a mile on the flat and are open to farmers of the County. These races are always colorful as well as entertaining events. The Holmdel is for three-year-olds and upwards who have never won two races over a

*Cottesmore Runs Fine Race To Best *Dolly's Love In Belmont National

$15,000 Grand National Draws Record Crowd At Belmont
Park With Field Of Ten

Never was there a more courageous thoroughbred than George H. Bostwick's great *Cottesmore, as he responded to the punishing finish drive administered by Jockey Frank Slate to give E. B. Schley's *Dolly's Love 15 pounds and beat him through the stretch for the winner's share of the $15,000 Grand National Steeplechase last Friday. Run under ideal conditions, before one of the largest crowds of the recent Belmont Park Meeting, *Cottesmore proved himself the champion 'chaser of America, turning back a field of 10 and substantiating the estimate of racing secretary and handicapper, Fred H. Parks, who put top weight on the 5-year-old son of Heverswood—Ruddy Daw, who comes of Thomas Hitchcock Sr., development.

*Cottesmore got his head in front as he raced past the white photo-finish background board, being so fortunate as to be striding at the finish line, while *Dolly's Love was reaching for the ground. He won driving in 5:51-2-5. Oncechee 138, 4 lengths back of *Dolly's Love, carried Thomas Hitchcock's light green and gold colors to the $1,000 show money as he bested Montpelier's Farragut, 134 by six lengths. Farragut's share was $500. *Cottesmore's win meant a net value of $14,850, while second money was $2,000.

For the 3 mile event, the start was made directly down the course from the grandstand. The ten were away winging, with *Bachelor Philip, 138, sporting the colors of Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark and Harold E. Talbott's Big Rebel, 135, with J. Gayer up, making the pace coming past the stands the first time. At the 2nd right in front of the club house, Mrs. Jack T. Skinner's Mad Policy, 150, with E. Roberts up, got in a bad spot, but got out over the water, though jumping off the quarters of Big Rebel.

Carrying on through the first mile, about the turn the order was *Bachelor Philip, Big Rebel, Mad Policy, *Dolly's Love, Oncechee. Mrs. Gwladys Whitney's Gay Charles 154 with H. Little up, Mrs. Louis E. Stoddard Jr.'s Straw Boss 147, J. Penrod up, Mr. Whitney's Red Rain

144, and Farragut with *Cottesmore running dead last. *Cottesmore got boxed off at the first fence, but is a horse who runs better when away slowly, not getting so keen and is easier to rate, and so Jockey Slate was thoroughly content to bring up the rear through the first mile.

The entire field jumped the first 5 fences and it was Straw Boss who first came to grief, at the 6th, where he seemed too keen and lost Jockey Penrod as he stood back too far. *Bachelor Philip continued to make the running, which seemed quite fast, though not in comparison to the record time of 5:39-2-5 recorded by Green Cheese. Still this was made over the old course where jumps were a little easier.

Straw Boss continued riderless, and was to be instrumental in throwing the rider off the better half of the Whitney entry. Going down the back side for the first time and about the turn to the 10th and the first fence again, Big Rebel and *Dolly's Love held closely to *Bachelor Philip with the entire field within 11 lengths. It was a brilliant show as steeplechasing enthusiasts in attendance from throughout the U. S. were standing and cheering, though but half the race had been run. *Cottesmore was 6th, tagging along with the highly-weighted Gay Charles, with the latter on the inside. Going to the 12th it could be seen that Straw Boss, still holding on riderless, was worrying Jockey Little on Gay Charles who did everything he could to get clear. Straw Boss was directly responsible for the bobble that Gay Charles put in which sent Jockey Little flying. At this juncture, Mad Policy, highly regarded, considering his recent win in the Brook, when he beat *Dolly's Love and Straw Boss, was being rated along 4th and 5th.

This was a real achievement on the part of Jockey Roberts for few thought that Mrs. Skinner's son of *Rathbeale could be rated. All accomplished the 13th and 14th but going to the 15th Mad Policy seemed to make a very rapid move, charging up to the leaders to rise to the 15th on top. Big Rebel, *Dolly's Love and *Bachelor Philip were all there together as Mad Policy blundered, smashing Roberts to the ground.

Broadside King Comes Home At Laurel

S. Bryce Wing's Son Of
Broadside Wins Easily Over
2 Miles In Field Of Eight

In his first appearance since the Pimlico meeting last Spring, S. Bryce Wing's Broadside King returned winner over the two mile brush course at Laurel last Tuesday, having been sent out by trainer V. H. Barrow the second choice in a field of eight. Ridden by T. Roby and packing 143 pounds, just 4 pounds under topweight, the 8-year-old chestnut son of Broadside—Queen of Sheba laid well off the pace for the opening mile, then moved forward to take over the running just two fences from home and coasted in an easy 4 lengths before Log Cabin Stud's Snobby Scamp.

Snobby Scamp had been sent to the front by Jockey Ansteatt early in the race, in fact when Mrs. W. Roth's California-bred Don Roberto, who had broken on top and opened the way, made such a bad bobble at the 4th fence that he was never able to regain his original front-running position. Miss Fred, who had fallen in her first attempt over brush a week ago, again came to grief, this time unloading her owner Mr. C. D. Toothman at the same 4th fence. This was the only mishap in the race.

The favorite, Montpelier's Santi Quaranti was outrun from the very start and continued to drop back until he was trailing the field and came in a badly distanced last. In fact the only other who offered any contention was Rokeby Stable's Meeting House who held on gamely throughout and finished some 3 lengths back of Snobby Scamp, thus taking the show by more than 40 lengths from Don Roberto. The latter in turn headed in Hugh O'Donovan's *Tam O'Shanter, Sidney J. Holloway's Flycatcher and the trailing Santi Quaranti.

J. H. C. Forbes' Baffler was the favorite in an eight-horse field that went to the post on Monday, Oct. 7, and the son of Bucks Hussar—Another Duchess did not disappoint his backers as he rounded into the home stretch in front with Jockey Brooks banging him home a length and a half before M. B. Goss's Judge's Bid.

D. Haslup's Playdema showed the way as they left the post and he was followed by Walter Wicks, Jr.'s Prince Wick, with Baffler in third position. Then Prince Wick moved into the command, only to lose his rider at the 4th fence and Playdema was again on top. It was not long, however, before Baffler had raced Playdema into submission and he was never headed thereafter.

Grey Wolf Accounts For $5,000 'Cap For Mrs. Sherman

Three-Year-Old By *Gino
Runs Well Over 6 Furlong
Jamaica Oval In 1:11 4-5

Grey Wolf, the 3-year-old colt by *Gino—Sun Edna which Mrs. A. F. Sherman acquired from S. L. Burch at Delaware last June gave an excellent account of himself over the 6 furlong Jamaica oval on Monday when he came home in a driving finish to take the $5,000 added Interborough Handicap from T. M. Dorsett, Speed to Spare, Roman Flag and a half dozen others who aspired for this opening day feature. A rank outsider in the betting, the grey Virginia-bred youngster carried his light impost of 110 pounds over the distance in the good time of 1:11 4-5, to return his backers $54.80 for a $2.00 ticket. His time was some 3-5 seconds better than that turned in by last year's winner of this same stake, who incidentally was Speed to Spare. A product of the late Willis Sharpe Kilmer's Court Manor Stud, Grey Wolf was sold in the 1938 Saratoga Sales for $2,700 to Raymond Guest, under whose colors he broke his maiden at Pimlico nearly a year ago. Though he has scored on several occasions previously this year, among them a handicap for Class C horses at Saratoga in August, the Interborough was Grey Wolf's first stake victory and netted him $4,625.

Another Virginia-bred 3-year-old, Lexbrook Stable's Judge Hay gelding Potranco covered 6 furlongs at Hawthorne Park last Saturday, October 5, in the same 1:11 4-5 to annex the $2,500 added Hawthorne Speed Handicap, besting T. B. McGrath's Kings Blue by more than two lengths. It proved the richest prize Potranco has captured in his several triumphs since he won The Labor Day Handicap at this same track as a 2-year-old over a year ago.

George D. Widener's 4-year-old Pompey gelding Birch Rod made it his third straight Class D Handicap when he romped home ahead of C. S. Bromley's Sun Mica and others at Belmont last Saturday. Previous to that he had accounted for a similar event at Aqueduct on September Continued on Page Twenty-three

ESSEX FOX HOUNDS

Peapack.
New Jersey.
Established 1912.
Recognized 1912.

Anderson Fowler, joint Master of Essex Foxhounds, with Kenneth B. Schley, will hunt hounds himself this season. Due to certain reductions in the Hunt's income, the pack has been cut down. Huntsman William Thomas, who has been with Essex for the past nine years, and who has actually bred and raised every hound in the kennels there today, is no longer a member of the establishment. He is seeking an opening elsewhere.

ent only to check where the Red had crossed the fence. The Master cast his pack in a wide circle, found the line about two hundred yards up the hill and they were away again in full cry across Herberts' Hill, back to Bell Knob,—back over the same route to Frost Knob where he went to earth.

The Master thought this was enough for the first cubbing of the Season, so we headed for home. It was, truly a great morning and if this was an omen of what's ahead, we are in for another real season of hunting down here in Middle Tennessee.

In addition to our visitors, the following were out: Eugene Harris, Jr., Vernon Sharp, Jr., Edward Potter, Jr., Felix Peach, Prof. Whip and your scribe.

In the course of the chase, we jumped about every kind of obstacle—rail fence, stone fence, rail panels, chicken coops, and farm gates. The panel we are placing throughout our country now is an invention of the Master's, Mason Houghland. It is a removable panel to be placed over wire fences. It is made with two plain wooden gates, ten feet long and three feet six inches high, hinged together at the top and placed between two posts in a wire fence. It has so far proven to be the best panel the writer has even seen. If, after a season of hunting, you find that you have placed your panels in the wrong place, you can take this panel up and move it where you want it. In the meantime you have not weakened the farmer's wire fence. If any of your readers would like to have more information about the construction of this type panel, I would suggest they write to J. M. Houghland, M. F. H., Hillsboro Hounds, Brentwood, Tennessee.

MEADOW BROOK HOUNDS

Syosset, Long Island, New York.
Established 1927.
Recognized 1924.
Owned and maintained by Meadow Brook Club, Westbury, Long Island, about 9 miles from kennels.

Professor Allison opened the cub-hunting school season on September 16 with twenty-two-and-a-half couple of children and twenty couple of hounds. So popular was his course of instruction that the eminent Trustees of this College of Venery Knowledge, Messrs. Peters and Gibson extended the educational treat a week and not until September twenty-first were the Post Graduates invited to return to the campus.

Since the twenty-first hounds have met seven times, ten foxes have been started (a discouragingly small number) hounds marked half of these to ground and lost the remaining five, and a total of two hundred and forty-one Post Graduate Students of Foxhunting have hunted.

For once we were rewarded, for we had waited only a few moments when the cry showed that he was definitely headed our way—then in clear view of the whole field a beautiful Red crossed an opening in the woods lot and over an old stone fence. The pack came on in a mom-

Hounds have never looked fitter or more handsome and though to date, they have had little opportunity of proving their ability, what opportunities have offered themselves have been instantly and competently dealt with by both the Dog pack and the Bitch pack.

I do not remember ever having seen such a succession of Golden days as we have been vouchsafed this fall, and their loveliness has made almost unbearably poignant the ever present sense of loving kinship we all hold for the fighting fox-hunters of England.

Notes From Great Britain

Hunting Position In Great Britain Will Not Be Settled Until Association Meeting

BY J. FAIRFAX-BLAKEBOROUGH

Not until mid October will we know what is to happen during the regular hunting season. The Masters of Foxhounds Association will meet again next month, review the whole position and advise M. F. H.'s what they consider wise and expedient with regard to sport. The M. F. H. will be influenced by the national situation, by the views of prominent M. F. H.'s and, to a certain extent, by public opinion. Those who are antagonistic to any form of sport during war time have already raised protesting voices. Some of these voices are influential others are declamatory in peace as well as in war. The immediate intention of those Masters who are hunting at all is to cub-hunt until the middle of October with a view to reducing the number of foxes and entering young hounds. It is noticeable in the correspondence columns of the Press that the attitude towards war time sport has recently altered. A broader, saner view is being taken and there is a growing feeling that even in these serious days it is not incongruous but of economic value that there should be opportunities for healthy diversion. In view of this if the Masters of Foxhounds Association decided to recommend that some sort of hunting may, where possible, take place during the regular season (which by unwritten law commences with November) it would be on a very modified scale. There would be no pageant, no advertising, no newspaper reports, little or no galloping across country, early morning fixtures, and nothing of the customary "glad throng that goes laughing along" gaiety. Under existing conditions slices of many hunting countries are so wired, trenched and otherwise under military occupation and control as to be entirely closed to hounds. There arises a difficulty. No matter how quick and well mounted whippers-in may be there are days when scenting conditions are so good, or when hounds break away with a fox from some big woodland that the pack cannot be stopped. It is in such countries that some M. F. H.'s have decided that it would be unwise to attempt any form of hunting after October. It is the young men in the army who are crying out insistently for opportunities to ride to hounds and in steeplechases. The older brigade have little heart or money for sport, and comparatively few are bringing up their hunters from grass.

The Masters of Foxhounds Ass'n. will have a difficult task in deciding what is the wisest course to pursue in the interests of the nation, and in the future of sport. The members of the Association have loyally followed all advice given them. Some packs have been disbanded, all others have been reduced to a minimum, and the same course has been followed in Hunt stables. Thus the consumption of hound food and horse forage is negligible. It may be that the M. F. H. Association may take their cue from the Jockey Club and hounds may meet during the regular season where and when it is thought expedient. There is time yet for those who have to make the decision to see more clearly the course to be taken when they review matters from the various angles which must influence them in their recommendations. At the moment we live from day to day, and it seems to some of us that the more normally we can spend our days the better we will be able to cope with the strain and anxiety which comes afresh with each morning. At such a time in our history sport is elevated far beyond the realms of fun, and of pastime. To a far greater degree than ever there enters into it the question of national tradition, present and future. He who sees no value in tradition fails to appreciate one of the strongest planks in the essential superstructure of what has made Britain what she is, and all that makes for British character. Please God both will pass through the refiner's fire stronger and more potent than ever!

As I prophesied many weeks ago the substitute St. Leger will not be run at Newmarket. Hurst Park is to be the venue of this race though I don't know that the track will tell us any more than would Newmarket as to the merits of the winner. Nevertheless it is well that all the classics are not to be run at Headquarters although, as a matter of fact, this year's classics will be almost entirely shorn of glory, of historic interest and of influence upon future bloodstock breeding. With tracks changed, fields denuded and general conditions entirely different, little kudos attaches to the winners of these races and their value at stud will not be enhanced to anything like that of normal times. Indeed, it may safely be said that in most respects this year's St. Leger will be shorn of interest and historic value, though there will be considerable wagering over the event. As to historic value the Leger will be almost meaningless, and, in any case there is a revolutionary spirit in the air with regard to the use of 'fashionable' sires, commanding enormous fees, as there is to forcing two-year-olds. The war has altered racing conditions, the position of uncertainty and financial difficulty in which many owners and breeders of bloodstock find themselves has caused certain matters much discussed for many years) to be brought to a head. We may find dynamic changes both in racing and breeding methods when the days of peace return. It must, of course, be remembered with regard to racing two-year-olds that the move must come either from the Jockey Club or from owners. Race executives exist to give owners what they demand rather than to shape the destinies of the Turf. Some of them have attempted to do this by arranging programmes for long distance stayers and by including early in the season fewer races for youngsters. The result has in many cases been poor entries, smaller fields, and complaints from owners and trainers that opportunity was denied them to run the class of horses they desire. There must be a general movement towards the same end, and with similar purpose in view ere anything approaching reform can be achieved. Here is what a thoughtful and well-informed correspondent was told recently by a successful French trainer when discussing these much debated questions. Said the French trainer (now in England)—

"Ever since the Great War we have gone in for a policy which was nothing more or less than the survival of the fittest. Our horses are not over raced in their first season—many do not run at all as two-year-olds—but they are subjected to plenty of hard racing and training in subsequent seasons. If they cannot stand up to it they do not receive generous patronage at the stud. So for the most part we are breeding from hardy stock, whereas in Great Britain pedigrees are still considered of paramount importance. Something may be said for line breeding, but in France we prefer the racecourse test, and it has paid us to do so."

Thoroughbreds

By Salvator

The $50,000 New York Handicap has come and gone and the last great money prize of the late fall produced a result that was "smashing" in every respect.

When Mr. Vanderbilt projected this event it was such a radical departure that it met with a very cool reception from many of the Metropolitan cognoscenti. Quite a few of these critics began an immediate campaign of disparagement and adverse publicity. Almost everything about it was found fault with.

In the first place, it was at altogether too great a distance.

Where was a decent field of horses going to be found to compete over such a route as two miles and a quarter?

Didn't everybody know that for years there had been only two real "Marathons" during the Metropolitan season?—these being the Saratoga Cup, at a mile and three-quarters, and The Jockey Club Gold Cup, at two miles?

Didn't everybody also know that in most seasons it was difficult to scare up more than two or three starters in either race and that they were often little but walk-overs for the winners?

How, then, did Mr. Vanderbilt expect to get anywhere with a two-mile-and-a-quarter handicap?

The days for such things, he was told, had gone by. They were definitely "out". The last attempt to breathe life into them had perished when the Pimlico Cup Handicap died of inanition back in 1930, to be shortly followed by the abandonment of the Latonia Cup—they being the last survivors in that department of racing.

What folly to attempt to revive it! And, above all, to endow the affair with the absurd sum of $50,000 added money!

The squandering of such a sum upon anything of that kind was bound to result in nothing but the most expensive "flop" in the annals of modern American racing. Etc., etc., on and on and on.

It reminded one of the barrage that was directed against the same progressive young sportsman when he promoted the memorable Seabiscuit—War Admiral match race at Pimlico in the fall of 1938.

The first attempt to bring the two "cracks" together, in the spring at Belmont Park, had fallen through in a rather melancholy manner, as Mr. Howard had walked out on Mr. Riddle at the eleventh hour, leaving him, and the Westchester Racing Association, "holding the bag."

When this affair had first been brought before the public the Anvil Chorus, for reasons best known to its members, had immediately gone into action and endeavored, in every way, to "queer it" in advance. So, when it fell through, their glee was undissembled.

Therefore, when Mr. Vanderbilt revived the project in the autumn, the agitation to prevent its being brought off was at once renewed, a guerrilla warfare being waged against its consummation that lasted up to the very morning before the two horses went to the post, of which the most conspicuous feature was the prediction that as an attraction it would be a failure and as a race meaningless.

However, the new Master of Pimlico went his way and scored one of the biggest successes in recent American turf history.

The New York Handicap has been attended by almost the same sort of a series of incidents. The volunteer censors, who couldn't be mistaken, you know, kept insisting right up to post time that it was just a gigantic farce-comedy and that while Mr. Vanderbilt was, of course, obliged to go on through with it, one thing was certain: It would be the last as well as the first crazy thing of that kind that he or anybody else ever would attempt!

Well, as was said in the beginning, the race has come and gone.

It attracted a field of no less than seventeen horses—the largest that any great handicap has brought out on any New York track within the last twenty years, so it is stated. More even than the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap did last spring in California!

There was also a tremendous crowd to witness it; immense interest and enthusiasm; a sensational contest, and time that just missed breaking the American record.

Together with the immediate announcement that the event would be renewed next season.

The reader may himself point the moral to adorn this tale.

HOLYSTONE WINS PIPING ROCK AWARD FOR 3rd YEAR

A. M. "BING" BYERS, OF ROLLING ROCK

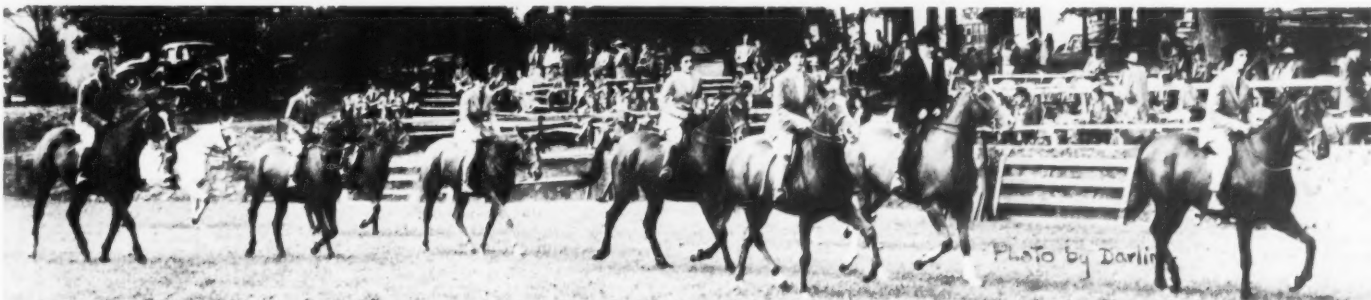

One of the keenest enthusiasts in the Rolling Rock hunting country was A. M. "Bing" Byers, hard working member of the Rolling Rock Race Assn., holding its races this week. "Bing" frequently took hounds out as acting-Master, in the absence of Richard K. Mellon, M.F.H., and is shown above taking part in the recent Rolling Rock Hunter Trials riding RIGHT ROYAL. Pictured going on with real corinthian pace, with perfect form and appointments, this is the way his many friends will remember "Bing". Last Saturday morning, out with Rolling Rock Hounds, he was killed instantly, when kicked by his horse following a nasty refusal.

Ten of the country's finest brush horses went out for the $15,000 added in the 40th Grand National last Saturday at Belmont Park. Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark's *BACHELOR PHILIP, #6, was the pacemaker through the first 2 1/4 miles, when BIG REBEL, #2 owned by Harold E. Talbott and *DOLLY'S LOVE, #3, carrying the colors of E. B. Schley, took command, following the mistake of Mrs. John T. Skinner's MAD POLICY, #7, 4 fences from home. The above picture was over the water in front of the stand the 2nd time. #9 is Thomas Hitchcock's ONEECHEE; #8, is Mrs. L. E. Stoddard, Jr.'s riderless STRAW BOSS, who shipped his rider on the far side the first turn.

*DOLLY'S LOVE, #3, can take off from the end of the wings. He did this to make MAD POLICY neck and lose Jockey Roberts 4 fences from home. At the next he was lapped with *COTTESMORE and the Bostwick color-bearer landed in the top of the fence.

SOON IT WILL BE NOVEMBER

Soon November will be here and with it, the pink coats will gather and wait while hounds, black hounds, white hounds, long haired, short haired, English hounds, American, cross-bred, Welsh, will pad softly down roadways jostle into waiting trucks, jostle out again and stand patiently while the huntsman winds his horn. There at many a fixture, but a few weeks off now, the silk hats will mingle with the derbys, the derbys with the caps. There will be the swells in cutaways, the black coats, the frock coats and, thank heaven for foxhunting, there'll be some with just plain tweed coats, boots with some mud, and an old felt hat to top off a good farmer's "Top of the morning".

Have you ever stopped to think of what it's all about, this game of foxhunting? It's a sport we learned in England long ago. Three hundred years ago, in fact. We bred our own dogs, but they all come down from the English hounds. We bred our own horses, but they came too from England. We blow our own horns, but the idea emanates from the English horn. We even have American tailors and American boot makers design pink hunting coats and boots with tops, but they learned their trade from Peal's and Tort's. We have borrowed an Englishman's sport. We've transplanted it here and as it's here, now what have we got?

Have you ever pulled up your horse in the midst of a run and sat and watched as the hunt goes by? If you have had a lame horse or if your horse is green and not up to the pace, then you may have been cursing your luck so much that you forgot to notice the pageant following along, a pageant of the land. Old men, young men, fat men, thin men, big horses, lean horses, clumsy horses, sleek horses, all after the hounds and one wily red gentleman who is leading the pack. Those who are not fit are panting and sweating. The hard ones go grimly by, still others go by with a smile and a laugh. The horn is twanging on a distant hill. The hounds fall silent. A few stragglers gallop past. "Where did they go? How far ahead? Have they killed? Have they lost? What's up with the hunt?"

It's a game and it has its funny side if you wish. Grown men and grown women, whiling their hours after one little fox. There's money invested in it. It takes money to ride blooded horses, to keep tack bright and shining and dress for the hunt according to the English style. It takes time, too, and all of us have but little time to spare, so they say, in this day of speed and more speed and so many things to do. It's a game of hide and seek. It's a game of follow the leader. It's a paper chase. It's anything you wish to call it, but it's a sport that's hard to forget. It's a sport that will never die.

They were saying foxhunting would die when the canals were built in England in the eighteenth century. They said it again with the railroads in the nineteenth century. They said it again with the automobiles and they'll say it again with the aeroplanes. But it hasn't died. No and it never will as long as man lives on the land. Why? Because foxhunting and the little fox, and the running pack, and the fields, and the horses, and the riders belong to the land. It is more than just a game that two can play. It is more than just a sport. It is the land itself. It is men and women of the land. The bright earth; the curving hills; the tall trees; the green and living things; the forests with their scents and smells; the paths down which hounds gallop; the fences snaking over the hill; the cry of the pack floating back in the twilight or rising keenly out of the morning mist. These things are foxhunting; they are the pageant of the land, the land that nobody can take away from man. You live on it. You eat it, drink it. It is you and you are it. Mankind owns the land and foxhunting belongs to it for the land is foxhunting.

Letters to the Editor

Kingculture At Springfield

Editor, The Chronicle
Middleburg, Va.
Sir:

Whoever reported the Springfield Show evidently neglected to mention the fact that Saturday, A. M. Kingculture was wrong. However, Mr. Carter pinned the blue on him Saturday night. He was so lame in front that many of us wondered why Miss du Pont would put such a grand horse in the show ring in the condition he was in Saturday evening.

Perhaps this explains Mr. Carter's decision.

Yours truly

H. R. Birnie

Springfield, Mass.

Editor's Note: King Culture went consistently well during the week-long Springfield Show that closed September 21st. He was left completely out of the ribbons in the $300

Hunter Stake the final class before the championship on Saturday night. The Championship went to *Clare's Toy.

Deer Hounds

Sept. 30, 1940.

Gentlemen:

I have a friend in Mexico who is interested in securing English foxhounds suitable for hunting deer in his country.

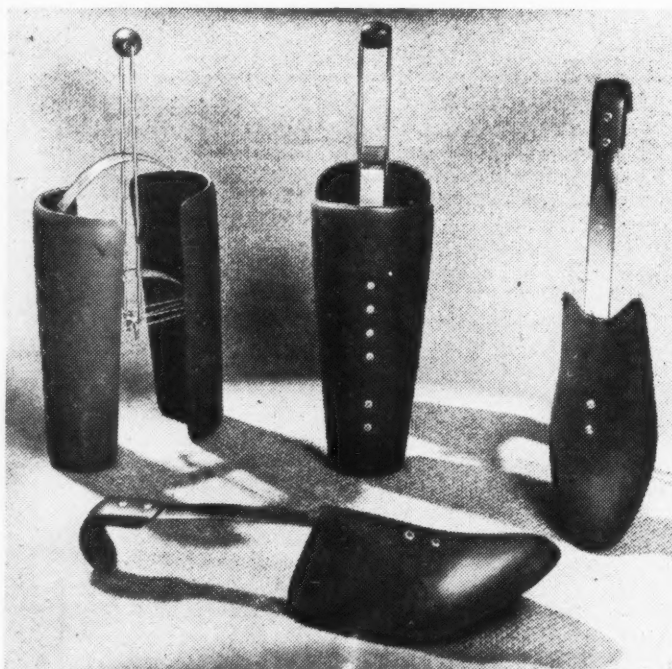

I made inquiry at the local kennels and they seem to think that a 24 inch hound would be better than the smaller types they are using here.

If you have any suggestions as to the type of dog that might be adaptable to this work, together with information as to the source of supply, I will be glad to transmit it to him.

Yours very truly,

FOREWORD

By W. Plunket Stewart, M. F. H.

President of Masters of Foxhounds Association

Editor's Note: The Chronicle is deeply appreciative of the cooperation of Mr. Stewart, President of the Masters of Foxhounds Association in enabling us to publish the complete roster of all of the hunts in America from the material supplied by the Masters of Foxhounds Association. His foreword sounds a clarion call to all American sportsmen to remember their English cousins from whom we owe the foundation of the sport of foxhunting in this country and who, today, are showing by their courage, what great sportsmen they are.

October 1st, 1940.

Again this year in their October issue, as was done in 1939, The Chronicle is giving a list of the organized hunts in the United States and Canada. From it, it will be noted that there are as of this date 131 recognized and registered hunts, while last year there were 130. This speaks well for the popularity of the sport, for in these days of uncertainty there is a tendency to economize, and it would be but natural that a decrease would have resulted. However, to those of us who are trying to carry on it is encouraging to feel that there are many who agree with us in thinking that it is of the utmost importance that every effort should be made to conduct the sport to the best of our ability, and thereby prevent unemployment in a class who find it difficult to obtain new positions. Then, too, it must be remembered that disbanding of hunt organizations not only increases unemployment, but destroys a certain amount of purchasing power.

It is but natural in this connection that our thoughts wander across the seas to the little island of England, the home of fox hunting, and no matter what the future may bring forth, the magnificent defense that our British cousins have presented and their superb bravery will stand out never to be forgotten in the future. I have been in constant touch with fox hunting activities in England, and while I am informed that some three thousand couples of hounds have been put down, fox hunting is still going on in a reduced and unpretentious manner by many of the big packs, and the morale of their staffs is magnificent. I am sure I voice the sentiment of all of the members of the Masters of Foxhounds Association when I send our English fox hunting friends our sincere and deepest sympathy for all the trials with which they are confronted at this time, and I know of no way of expressing it better than was done by the New York Times on July 24th, 1940, which I give herewith for the benefit of those who have not seen it.

"It is twelve o'clock in London. Hitler has spoken and Lord Halifax has replied. There is no more to be said. Or is there? Is the tongue of Chaucer, of Shakespeare, of Milton, of the King James translation of the Scriptures, of Keats, of Shelley, to be hereafter, in the British Isles, the dialect of an enslaved race?"

"Let us try to see clearly. We have to look back a good many centuries to find the beginnings of English liberty. We see it as a rough and obstinate growth, heaving the rich soil under the oaks of lordly estates, breaking out in Wat Tyler's time and in Cromwell's and in the day of the second James, forcing the Reform Acts, never perfected, never giving up. We see the spread of democracy and of empire, side by side, confused and turbulent. But we see democracy ever marching on.

"It is twelve o'clock in London. Not twelve o'clock for empire—there is no empire any more. Not twelve o'clock for the old 'dominion over palm and pine'. Twelve o'clock for the common people of England, out of whom England's greatest souls have always come, twelve o'clock for all that they are and have been, for all those things which make life worth living for free men.

"Twelve o'clock—and the wisest prophet in Christendom cannot say what is to come. The old, old towns of Britain, the hills and cliffs and shores and meadows rich with history, the homes and lives of forty-five million people, the great British traditions of human worth and dignity, the folk sayings, the deep wisdom and long-suffering hopes of a race—these, not being pleasing to Hitler, are condemned.

"We know little, and for a time shall know little of this unparalleled spectacle of the nation rising, as by a single impulse, to defend

"This blessed plot, this earth, this realm, this England."

From our own shores we cannot see the shadow over ancient gardens, over houses hoary with age, over the graves of poets and philosophers and the tombs of the martyrs. We know only that one of the green and lovely oases of civilization in the wilderness of man's time on earth is foully threatened, and that the whole world for ever more will be poorer if it falls.

"Words falter. There are no phrases for the obscene ambition that attacks, for the magnificent mobilization of a people that defends, unshaken and unafraid. We can only pray that soon the time will come when the vultures no longer defile the British skies and the cry goes out from John o' Groats to Land's End: 'Twelve o'clock and all's well!'"

MILL CREEK SHOW

Show champion. Reconstruction went very well, with Mrs. Hugh Mc B. Johnston up. However, this conformation champion, good enough to have trounced Holystone in June, was considered reserve back of Sylvestre, who was ridden to perfection by Mrs. Bennett's daughter, Miss Betty Mead, and gained the Austin H. Niblack Challenge Bowl.

Mrs. Bennett's Long Lane Stable horses likewise succeeded in the spirited hunt team class when 10 entries contended. Mrs. Bennett, her daughter Miss Mead and S. Prentice Porter, joint-M. F. H. of Mill Creek rode in the winning team.

There was sun shine in the morning, until a driving and very sudden cloud burst sent everyone running to shelter. However, it cleared up in the afternoon, before the championship and hunt team classes. Everyone was really soaked but the real enthusiasts of foxhunting relished the rain for the country needed the moisture.

Mrs. Andrew King, riding Captain Pontoon, Mrs. Orton Prime on Scandal and Mrs. Bennett on Honesty, made up the "Old Guard" team, to take 4th in the hunt teams. Captain Pontoon is named for a character in "Horse Nonsense" and has a trophy contended for each year in the lightweight also the middle and heavy-weight classes. It is a special prize going to the best performer, with no consideration to conformation and thoroughbreds are ineligible. Mrs. Kimball Salisbury rode Alaska to win the lightweight; Mrs. Bennett rode her Gatineau to win the middle and heavyweight.

W. Brock Fuller, judge, considered that Sylvestre was "capable of giving a bold and brilliant, as well as a safe and comfortable ride, on a top day with hounds."

year. Since "they all look alike to the Mayor", this improvement obtains in circles low and high.

According to best grapevine telegraph advices, work of widening the junction of Route 15 with Route 50 on the West End will begin as soon as the present paving project is completed. This will entail cutting into the lawn of Miss Katherine Woodward's property and elimination of a dangerous curve, an improvement that is said to have been under consideration by the Highway Department for a number of years. Writing of this property brings to mind the day, eons ago it seems, when the only traffic sign in evidence anywhere in town was a notice to motorists, posted beside the Woodward place, to "Close cut-out," this being in pre-muffler days. An ambitious country correspondent for a county paper was in ardent search of copy material one day and noted the fact that several strangers were strolling about the Woodward grounds. Dashing home, he released this epic for the press, "A number of guests are being entertained this week at Close Cutout, on the west end of town."

She was just breaking into bowling and possessed at the moment, the minimum of knowledge that exposes a maximum of ignorance. The bowling shoes she ordered had no style, were quite impossible, she said, and when she looked at the soles and "found they weren't even mates", she backed up and flatly refused to wear them at all!

Laughlines from the day's headlines: "Germany moves into Rumania to Protect Her; Japan Invites (with threats) the United States to Cooperate with Her in Subjugation of Asia; Willkie Accuses Democrats of Accusing Him of Being an Aristocrat; Kennedy Denied Use of Ship He Denies Ordering." "O tempora, O mores!"

brush course. The fourth race on the card is the 15th running of the Monmouth County Hunt with a course of three miles over fair hunting country for four-year-olds and upwards. Allison Stern retired the gold cup valued at $2,500 last year, presented by Manton B. Metcalf, Jr. Mr. Stern having won it three times, first in 1930 with Waverly Star, again in 1931 with Waverly Star, and last year with Lucier. Mr. Metcalf has generously donated a new gold cup to take the place of the one retired by Mr. Stern, to be competed for in a newly created race to be known as The Monmouth County Gold Cup for four-year-olds and upwards over 2½ miles of brush.

Jr estate. This year corn had been planted on part of the three and a half mile timber course. Last Saturday's timber race was about three miles over a partly new course of 7 stout post-and-rail fences, placed on much the same ground as that of the brush course. The three mile contest for the Huntingdon Valley Hunt Challenge Cup included two complete circuits of this course and contenders had to jump the 1st and 2nd fences three times, 16 fences in all, then finish down the flat track. Between the 7th and 8th (1st fence second time) the course cut through part of the corn field which had been harrowed and rolled. Here the going was surprisingly good.

The Huntingdon Valley feature drew 5 entries, who paraded postward to contest for the challenge cup, presented by George F. Tyler and the late Daniel B. Wentz, Jr. The 11-year-old grey campaigner, Coq Bruyere, carried top weight of 165 pounds. He looked very fit and ready to run. Bungtown, also carrying the green and white colors of John Strawbridge, with Mr. E. H. Bennett up, was in at 158, as was Hector Chambers' third training charge, Edward M. Cheston's Coq Noir, ridden by Mr. R. P. Hamilton. Mrs. Turner Wiltshire's Houseman making his third start over timber under Mr. J. S. Harrison's handling carried 153; and owner-rider, Perry Benson's Lady Empyrean had been assigned 150. Of this field of 5 all but Mrs. Wiltshire's 4-year-old Brooms gelding were by Dr. Lewis M. Allen's great jumper sire, Coq Gaulois. The great Coq Bruyere went to the post the odds on favorite; Coq Noir held the second choice at 2 to 1.

Ira Gregory got the small field away to a good start. Landing over the 1st, Houseman, who placed third to William J. Clothier's Henchman in the 20th renewal of the Pennsylvania Hunt Cup a fortnight ago, led Coq Noir by 2 lengths. Mrs. Wiltshire's 4-year-old son of Brooms—Don't Ask Me, continued to set the rather slow early pace over the 2nd and 3rd, through the small infield. The rest of the field were well bunched with Mr. Strawbridge content to hold Coq Bruyere in last place at this juncture. Going out into the country over the 4th and 5th fences, Mr. Bennett and Mr. Hamilton sent Coq Noir and Bungtown into the lead. Lady Empyrean was now running on even terms with Houseman.

Mr. Harrison eased Mrs. Wiltshire's color-bearer back off the pace, as the field rounded the left-handed turn to the 6th. Here Houseman got in wrong, taking out a rail. Coq Noir, running in 2nd place behind Bungtown hooked into the 7th stout post-and-rail very hard, almost losing Mr. R. P. Hamilton. Lady Luck was riding with the Cheston entry, for the black 6-year-old Coq Gaulois—Colleen gelding managed to stay on his feet, and Mr. Hamilton regained his seat.

Bungtown, who placed 4th to Paul G. Daly's Mansfield Park in last week's stirring contest for the coveted Meadow Brook Cup, continued to show the way under Mr. Bennett and Coq Bruyere moved to the lead as the field raced down through the corn and commenced the second turn of the course. Taking long, powerful strides and jumping in his usual magnificent form the veteran grey led over the 8th fence closely followed by Bungtown, Coq Noir, Lady Empyrean, and Houseman in the order named. So they ran, across the flat track and through the infield, where Coq Noir hit the 10th hard, splintering a top rail. With about a mile and 6 fences left to accomplish, the Strawbridge pair showed the way out into the country the second time. Over the 11th post-and-rail it was Bungtown leading Coq Bruyere by a length. Two lengths behind the favorite came Lady Empyrean, Coq Noir, and Houseman, all running easily. At the 12th Bungtown, last Spring's Harston Cup winner jumped and failed to keep his feet upon landing, to come down with "Tiger" Bennett.

The pace increased as Mr. George Strawbridge and Coq Bruyere led the way around the left-handed turn to the 13th. The great leaper was standing well back at his fences and describing a perfect arc over the up-standing post-and-rails. With about a half mile and 2 fences left of the 3 mile journey, Mr. Hamilton and Mr. Harrison simultaneously made their move down through the corn. When the field came into view again, racing toward the next to last barrier, Coq Noir with a burst of speed had moved to the top and led the veteran grey by a half length and, under Mr. Hamilton's urging increased this advantage to a full length in the drive up the hill toward the last. Houseman was also making a determined bid only a length off Coq Bruyere.

Edward M. Cheston's 6-year-old Coq Gaulois gelding maintained his slight advantage as the two timber-toppers came into that last post-and-rail. With a tremendous leap, Coq Bruyere fairly flew this last fence and landed full of run to lead Coq Noir into the head of the long stretch by a good length. Again the black gelding, under a spirited ride, made a determined challenge. In the drive to the finish it looked for a moment as if Coq Noir might overtake the great grey, but the game campaigner withstood the challenge to win by a short ½ length. Three lengths further back, Houseman finished a close third well ahead of Lady Empyrean who was unable to match the final drive of those who placed before her.

Coq Bruyere's victory was a very popular one. By his triumph, John Strawbridge's great timber horse had added one more hunt cup race to his long list of timber wins. Hunt Meeting followers were much impressed with Houseman's excellent showing. Making his third start over timber Mrs. Wiltshire's 4-year-old Brooms gelding had fenced with but one mistake and had finished a close 3rd in very good company. The rather slow first mile was responsible for the slow time of 6:31 2-5.

The two and a half mile steeplechase for the Master's Plate, presented by Wharton Sinkler, Huntingdon Valley's M. F. H. drew a field of 4, and Mr. Sidney Watters, Jr., had the honor of training and riding Mrs. Jane Fowler Bassett's first winning chaser when he booted home First Alarm, a maiden 6-year-old, to score by 2 lengths over R. V. N. Gambrell's last year's winner, the R. G. Woolfe trained Telemark. Mr. Gambrell's 7-year-old Pete-Wrack mare, who defeated First Alarm, making his first start at Whitmarsh two weeks ago, was assigned top weight of 162 pounds and was ridden by Mr. F. H. Powers, Jr. in this event open only to amateur riders. Mrs. Bassett's striking chestnut son of Big Blaze—Problematical was in at 155.

Jockey S. Banks, who rode the Holmdel Stable's Cartermoor to triumph in this year's Foxcatcher

Grand National, brought home the R. G. Woolfe trained Tioga in the twenty-first running of the King's Oak Steeplechase, to win a second leg on the coveted challenge plate, presented by the late George Horace Lorimer, for R. V. N. Gambrell. After Henry W. Frost's maiden training charge, Mrs. J. P. Mills' Wood King, the early pacemaker, under a strong pull, over-jumped at the 9th and came down hard with J. Brooks, Tioga, well-ridden throughout the 2 miles over 15 small brush fences, withstood determined challenges by Norman D. Cleland's Emma's Pet and last year's winner J. G. Leiper, Jr.'s Corky, to gallop down the stretch the winner by 2 lengths in 4 minutes, 17 seconds flat.

Five times during the last 7 years, Mrs. Willing Bromley has owned the winner of Huntingdon Valley's mile and a quarter flat race for the Justa Farm Plate. Last Saturday, Shot Gun, the 1936 and '38 winner, the 11-year-old St. James gelding Cheriton, who won back in 1933 and '35, and Planters' Punch, a 6-year-old son of Haste, all carried the bright, yellow Bromley silks postward. Carrying top weight of 160 pounds in the field of 7, was C. Mahlon Kline's odds on favorite, Argentino, the M. F. Dixon trained entire son of Le Val d'Enfer—Argente 2nd with Mr. J. S. Harrison up, the combination that had galloped to an easy victory in the mile and a half test at Whitmarsh just 2 weeks past.

At the drop of the flag, Mr. Watters sent Shot Gun winging away on top with Cheriton following right at his heels. As the two Bromley color-bearers raced into the first turn of the small, half mile track, Mr. Cleland moved Cheriton up on even terms with Shot Gun. Up the back stretch the third and last time, "Johnny" Harrison made his move. With powerful, sweeping strides Argentino went swiftly to the leaders, and, strode away to cross the finish an easy winner by 8 lengths. Shot Gun placed 2nd, 13 lengths ahead of Planters' Punch, who, under Mr. Hamilton's urging, had overtaken the veteran Cheriton for the show.

THE DERRYDALE PRESS

the publication of

The Story of American FOXHUNTING

By J. BLAN VAN URK

With an Introduction by Gordon Grand

MANY months ago Mr. J. Blan van Urk was commissioned by The Derrydale Press to write a comprehensive story of American foxhunting, covering all organized and private packs since the seventeenth century. A large single volume was contemplated. Mr. van Urk's extraordinary investigations have uncovered such a wealth of totally unknown material that it has been found necessary to devote two large volumes to the hunts established up to and including 1906. The hunts established since 1906 will require an additional two volumes.

The plain facts of the case are that not even the most knowing sportsmen in America have really had the faintest idea of the true story of foxhunting in this country. Those are strong words, but a number of our outstanding sportsmen who have seen the manuscript of this book have been only too ready to acknowledge that they have been woefully ignorant of the subject.

The author of this greatest of all American sporting books has spent his full time for seven months in completing this first volume, which covers all packs of hounds established between 1650 and 1861. During this period there were more than 125 packs of foxhounds. Aside from a mere sketch of half a dozen of the packs, their activities have never been described—because no one has known that they existed. Nor has anyone ever known of the actual conditions of American foxhunting in this period.

Mr. van Urk and his secretary have searched innumerable files of colonial and later newspapers and have uncovered a most fascinating record of wide-spread foxhunting activities which have never been even suspected by previous students and writers.

The author has spent days among the most outstanding collections of sporting books in existence and has enjoyed the complete assistance of such collectors as Messrs. Alfred B. Maclay, Harry Peters, David Wagstaff, etc. He has visited and hunted with many packs, and has talked with hundreds of foxhunters throughout the country.

Never in the history of sporting literature on this continent has such a painstaking and accurate search been made for facts about a sport. We can state unhesitatingly that this book is the most important and fascinating sporting book ever written in America.

When THE STORY OF AMERICAN FOXHUNTING is published, Americans will discover that the sport has been more widespread and more significant in their country than in England, where it originated. They will realize that foxhunting has had an amazing effect in the social development of the country. It has played its part in politics, and in business. No historian can ever ignore this work in the future. One is astonished at the number of packs which have been ardently hunted through almost three centuries, all over the country. Manhattan Island was a foxhunting paradise, with a number of most active Hunts! There have been significant Hunts in the most unsuspected places from the east coast to the west. We are sure you will add to the pleasure of your sport when you know more about its origin and growth in this country. The background and development of your Hunt will be carefully recorded in this book. In all, more than 450 Hunts will be described in the four volumes.

The illustrations consist of the most unusual collection of foxhunting pictures we have ever seen. They will be reproduced in the traditional manner of The Derrydale Press—as will the entire production.

It is significant that in the face of world conditions, The Derrydale Press has gone ahead with this work, not attempting to issue it in expensive and unsatisfactory form, but publishing it in the finest possible manner, confident that its importance fully warrants such an undertaking. Printed in large, easily read type, on fine rag paper, beautifully bound in scarlet, with gilt tops, these books will be a lasting memorial to American Foxhunting. Each volume will average 100,000 words of text, and the complete work will include some 400 to 500 illustrations.

Volume I will be published in early December; Volume II in the spring of 1941; Volumes III and IV will follow as quickly as it is possible to complete them. There will be only 950 copies of each volume printed, and the type will be destroyed. The price of each volume will be $30.00. Each volume is a complete book in itself and may be bought separately.

NEDDIE has sired the winners of over $365,000, to date, including Nedayr, Good Goods, Black Gift, Ned Reigh Trailer, etc.

Of GINO'S first three crops 36 have started and 32 have won. In addition, he has four two-year-old winners out of seven starters to date.

SUN CIRCLE, with but 18 starters (excluding his two-year-olds) has sired the winners of over $85,000. Included are the stake winner, Neverfade, Al Nieman ($29,750), Sun-circle Blaze, Fritter Circle, Sun Wine, etc.

SUNADOR'S first two-year-old to win equalled the Hollywood Park track record twice last season. He has had 6 starters—3 winners to date.

Of SUNPATIC'S registered foals to the end of 1939, eight have started—five have won.

NED REIGH will be recalled as the 1935 winner of the Junior Champion, Troy, Walden and Babylon Handicaps.

Willis Sharpe Kilmer led America's breeders in 1939 with 269 wins. In the matter of money-won, he was a very close second with $336,951.

TWENTY of the mares are "stake winners, or producers of stake winners." . . . FOURTEEN others are daughters of stake winning dams . . . others include sisters or half-sisters of He Did, Suintica, Bushwhacker, Sun Portland, Firethorn and Time Supply.

EVERY mare with foals old enough to race prior to this season has produced one or more winners, with one exception.

79 Sun Briar mares (foaled between 1920 and 1933) are recorded as in the stud . . . 67 of the 79 have produced winners . . . That's 85%—but the record is more remarkable when it is noted that 8 of the 12 non-producers HAVE HAD BUT ONE FOAL!

EVERY one of the six TRAUMER mares with foals old enough to race has produced winners. As a matter of fact, the six have produced 18 winners of $106,377 to date . . . Hampton blood is valuable here as abroad.

A FEW of the stake winners produced by mares in this dispersal: Easton, Nedayr, Sun Egret, Sun Lover, Chance Sun, Alberta, Suintica, Best Beau, Floragina, etc.

thereby showing herself to be the most versatile performer in the show. Her right to the major laurels in this division came as the result of having garnered points in the various open jumping events, thereby besting such a consistent jumper as Dodsberg Farms' Fire Chief, who had been ridden by owner Truman Dodson and only conceded the honors to Huntley Glen by one point thus coming in for a well-earned reserve.

Huntley Glen's outstanding accomplishment, however, was in the hunter division and this on Saturday when Mrs. Perry rode her to an undisputed victory in the well-filled corinthian. Her performance at a good hunting pace over eight upstanding 4' fences in the ring was in no way approached by any of the 15 other entries, though Mrs. John S. McIntyre's grey gelding Round Hill, ridden by James Andrews, went well enough to earn 2nd place. Fire Chief, who had beaten Huntley Glen in both the touch and out and the modified olympic, also gained himself a blue in the hunter division, being placed over the eventual champion Pamuck, Howard Y. Haffner's well known "Boby E" and others in the event for Local Hunters.

A young horse who has developed advantageously this summer and who seems to evoke more favorable comment at each succeeding show is Mrs. E. Gardner Prime's "Balls Bridge". This 3-year-old Irish-bred chestnut has been showing consistently on the Virginia circuit under the capable handling of Alex Calvert and has rounded into one of the top youngsters of the season. His striking conformation, superb manners and excellent way of moving earned him the distinction of being the most talked-of horse in the show, to say nothing of his being liked by the judges who put him 1st in the green hunters, the hunter hacks and the hunter sweepstakes.

Though it boasts no outside course, the Farmington Show, with its neatly-planned ring nestling comfortably in a shaded spot on the Farmington Country Club grounds, within sight of Charlottesville and the historic University of Virginia provides no lack of interesting tests for hunters and jumpers alike. The common whitewashed brush jump, which it seems to have become a set tradition to employ as obstacle number one in most shows, is even more noticeable by its absence at Farmington. Instead, those performers who appear to have learned the usual ring procedure by rote are faced with a sturdy plank fence that at least has some resemblance to a cross country obstacle.

The class for working hunters, in which Rodger Rinehart showed Miss Harvey to advantage, had the added interest of two fences placed close together at right angles, so that contestants, after jumping one, were required to pull up and pop over the other from practically a standstill, a kind of work typical of the hunting field. Miss Harvey's agreeable manners and way of going placed her over Huntley Glen, whom Mrs. Perry rode to the 2nd award, while 3rd went to Dr. Stephen H. Watts' Big Brown Jug, ridden by Farmington's honorary whipper-in Llewellyn Miller, and 4th to Gay Blade.

Of all the entries in the difficult modified olympic, Fire Chief alone turned in a clean performance and he could not have negotiated the nine obstacles more consistently had he been schooled over them, an impossibility since the diagram of the course was not posted until fifteen minutes before class time. Without a second's hesitancy the well-named son of Texaco-Ethyl swept twice around the ring, clearing by turns post-and-rail, coop, triple in-and-out, single pole, triple bar, barrier of straw bales and finally a road sign flanked by burning flares. Both Huntley Glen and W. B. Bogert's Gay Cockade had identical performances, each clearing all but the straw barrier, this a good 4'-6". A jump-off resulted in Huntley Glen's being placed 2nd to the winning Fire Chief.

Cubhunting Fits Pack For Season

and self-reliance that every good foxhound must have. Let them play: let them gallop on ahead thirty or forty yards in front of the horse, if they will come back to you when they are told to.

During your first month of cubhunting you will want to take all your young entry out as much as possible, in order to find out which of them are the good ones, as well as to teach them what they are supposed to do. The number of days a week you go out depends somewhat on how large a pack you have and how large a country. Personally, I think that three days a week is enough for any foxhound; certainly for the undeveloped young ones; and you should be very careful not to make too long mornings at first. Those of you who have any experience with race horses know how easy it is to break a two-year-old's heart by too much work. Precisely the same thing is true of a foxhound. Your young entry will vary in age from a year to sixteen, or even eighteen, months; and remember that a foxhound, particularly in America, does not get his full strength until he is over two years old; and don't tax that strength too far. Often and Short is the rule, and believe me, it will pay you as much on account of your horses and yourself as on account of the hounds. Do not ever forget that cubhunting is for the training of young hounds, and, incidentally of young foxes. Don't let your horse-coping friends persuade you that it is also for the purposes of making young horses. It isn't. If you as master, graciously allow them the courtesy of the cubhunting field, they must have this fact impressed upon them. If they have young horses to make, they should take them elsewhere for their lessons; or, at any rate, keep them well behind where they cannot damage or interfere with hounds in any way. Be strict about this, and if they become a nuisance, simply ask them politely to remove themselves and their horses to some other sphere of action. If they do not, take your hounds home.

As a matter of fact, the cubhunting period belongs to the master, and members of the field should, if they wish to join in the sport, ask his permission by letter or word of mouth, before coming out. Of course, he will send a courteous reply saying how glad he is to have them; but underneath it all, remember, that for the first month he probably wishes they were anywhere else save in the field. They should keep away from hounds at all times, and above all never bring out a kicking horse. A well-directed kick may ruin a hound for all time, and to the master, at any rate, that hound will be more valuable than any horse.

You should bring out, with your young entry, a number of old reliable hounds, whose duty it is to teach their juniors. I believe they know it; and certainly it is odd to note how keenly young hounds watch their preceptors, looking at first with astonishment when they press into a thick covert at the word of command, and then, gradually gaining in confidence from day to day, essay the same action themselves. Given decent scenting conditions, young hounds will usually get an idea of what they are expected to do during the first month.—If you have any sort of luck, you will have killed a brace or two, and you should make a point of doing this, even if you have to dig them out, after they have been marked to ground. Young hounds must have blood. Digging out foxes is not a pretty performance, nor is it one which you should practice as a regular thing; but it is not unsportsmanlike, and is part of the game that must be played if you want to succeed. In England, where foxes are far more plentiful, (I have seen five brace killed on a cubbing morning in the Duke of Beaufort's country.)—many foxes are dug early in the season; first, because it teaches young hounds to mark; second, because it makes them keen; and third, because the farmers want it done.

"But this isn't England", you'll say. "We haven't got so many foxes here". True enough; but nevertheless, try to look at it from the hound's point of view. How would you like to be robbed of the quarry you had been pursuing for an hour on a hot day, by seeing him pop down a rabbit hole, or hide under a fallen stump? How would you like to have this happen,—not once, but thirty or forty times,—don't you think you would get a bit discouraged? In England, where earth-stopping is carried on systematically, the cubs cannot easily get to ground. They must flee or be killed; but for some reason earth-stopping has never been practised in America systematically, except in a few instances in Canada. I suppose the reason is that it is thought impracticable. It isn't though it is difficult to find men who will undertake the job; but if you want to get the best sport, I am of the opinion that it should be done.

I could write indefinitely about the wiles of the hunted fox, but this is not an article on foxhunting, and, anyway, many men far wiser than I, from Peter Beckford to Cecil Alden, have written about that. I merely wanted to give you a very fragmentary idea of cubhunting. There is no teacher like experience; and if you will take my advice, when trying to hunt hounds for the first season yourself, you will get an experienced huntsman to come with you and tell you frankly and brutally what you do that is wrong. Of course, you should if possible have persuaded some friend who is an old hand at the game to allow you to come into covert with him and watch him hunt hounds. Failing this, even better perhaps because he cannot object to your asking questions, engage the best professional huntsman you can afford and watch him hunt hounds for at least six weeks before you try to do it yourself. I watched for three years before I picked up a horn; but it was an expensive school.

There are one or two things that you should remember; first, that a foxhound is a very sensitive animal, and that he will know by the merest change in the tone of your voice, the mood you are in. Don't ever deceive him; and don't, on any account lose your temper or ridicule him. You will laugh at this latter remark, and yet, let me tell you, I can remember once, at the end of a very long hard day, which had been singularly unproductive of sport, saying to my hounds in a discouraged voice:—"You're nothing but a set of useless cur-dogs. You can't find a damned thing". I made this remark half under my breath, not in a rating tone at all, and yet, one old hound looked up at me, as if to say: "We're trying, Master; but if you don't think it is worthwhile, we'll give it up too". I really believe that hound knew what I said. At any rate, he made me thoroughly ashamed of myself. Second, if you have had a disappointing day, or a disappointing end to your hunt, don't leave hounds, particularly young ones, at the end of the day without saying "Good-night" to them; without getting down off your horse and making much of them; perhaps throwing a bit of biscuit if you have some in your pockets. Third, there is a saying,—and it is a true one,—that hounds will always go to the man who shows them sport, whether he feeds them or not. Nevertheless, unless you are an old man or a damned lazy one, and if you are the latter, you had better not try to hunt hounds, jog home over the road with them at the end of the day, and feed them yourself and walk them out before you go into the house to get your own meal. It is not necessary, but is very well worthwhile for a beginner. One last word and I am done. Make friends with your hounds and they will repay you a thousand fold.

cond day, he began to go, and from then on, he didn't miss a conformation class. He was beaten in the model by Red Tape, who, like Lily Langtry in her fifties, can still be called "a beautiful creature"; but he swept the thoroughbred, ladies', hunter hacks, corinthian and stake events, and just walked into the championship. He is a very high class horse and showed in great bloom here. He was almost overbrilliant in his rounds though, and never looked like a five cent ride.

The horse which from outside the ring did, and always does look like anybody's safe conveyance was Inky, the Hill's top-eared, black mare, who if she could be mass-produced, would outsell any product in America. 'Twas rumored that one of the arbiters thinks her a bit wide in front, and perhaps that explains the graph of her successes, which was not a straight line. Nevertheless, she won some nice classes, including lightweight, pairs, and Meadow Brook Master's, besides lesser ribbons and the reserve lightweight ribbon.

Coming to the third of the big names, we are still talking about an awful good horse when we begin on Chatter Chat. The fact that he was entered in most of the open jumping classes, as well as throughout his own division, and got second in the finals of the military-civilian stake, tells about his jumping, while his previous grand championships here and at the Garden, bespeak his class. He opened the show by winning the Dickson Memorial, took the middleweight class and that championship besides several other ribbons, but could never get enough points to threaten Holystone for "the whole money".

Bond Street went well throughout, but lacked a little pace and dash to win a class, although well up in the ribbons. Illuminator, making his comeback, on the other hand, had a bit too much of both, and took some sitting on, well-provided by the artist, Pat Bolling. What does it prove when it is realized that all the above-mentioned horses were ridden by girls? A moral might be odious in the pointing.

If one can be versatile and consistent, the two Greenhalgh horses certainly turned the trick. Billy Do won other than throughbreds; stablemate Big Boy, who is the freest, gayest and safest looking fencer we've seen in a long time, took the touch and out, the bareback, was on the winning hunt team and up in the ribbons in many a strip class, winding up with the jumper championship.

Priscilla Duke showed an equally remarkable lepper in the towering Deacon, said to have been given her out West. If so, hope she never looks in his mouth, for he really can jump, safely and well and big.

Carol Lasker's Modernistic, went better each day when owner-ridden, and climaxed all by winning the military-civilian final, having come through well over a hundred open horses to do it. Her Jambol, stake winner at the Garden last year, made his return to the big time here; he has put on a lot of weight and will improve off this show when he levels out a bit.

*Demas continued to prove he is truly a nice young horse, if his record all summer has not already done this. He won green, middleweight and was in the ribbons over the outside course.

The hunt teams, twelve entries, was enough to raise the hackles on even the most blasé of show goers. The crowning glory of it was the exhibition of the Meadow Brook bitch pack, racy, quality misses, who really roared and whom their glowing mentor, Harry Peters, claims to be the fastest in the world. If they're not, they look it, and maybe the local nimrods, nor any others for that matter, could see much of them in a more flying country.

Of the numerous breeding classes, less said the better. The gorgeous trophies handed out in them look like more than fair exchange for the winners; but Long Island was ever a better nursery for children than horses. Again here, as week before in Brookville, one was amazed and delighted at the quality and quantity of the young entry. Turned out to the nines, beautifully and suitably mounted, their riding is on a par, and those who judge them are more to be pitied than censured.

Policy would have taken a world of beating, others that he had grown rank from being rated and when moved up a bit he had turned on such speed that he wouldn't have lasted. Regardless, he had been jumping with magnificent form, gaining over his fences.

With Mad Policy out of it and but four fences to go, *Cottesmore was still some 6 lengths back. *Bachelor Philip stopped fast and *Dolly's Love and Big Rebel were fighting head and head. At the precise moment that Jockey Slate had anticipated a move with *Cottesmore, he bobbed at the 17th when *Dolly's Love almost stood him down. A big jumper anyhow, Mr. Schley's Oleg Dubassoff-trained *Dolly's Love had stood way back at the 17th, forcing *Cottesmore, lapped on his quarters, to take off with him. *Cottesmore hit in the top of the hedge and bravely kept his feet under him.

With but two fences to go, Jockey Slate sat still, let *Cottesmore recover from his blunder and *Dolly's Love sped on, some 3 lengths in the lead. Slate made no move until the 18th where he encouraged *Cottesmore, clucking to him and kicking him and the Heverswood gelding responded with a great jump.

The race was on in earnest to the last with *Dolly's Love, under a fine ride by Jockey Roby getting to the 19th and final fence with a half-length lead. *Cottesmore, despite his 160 pounds, had the heart and courage to respond to his rider's demands, put in a mighty leap, where-in he stood back so far he cleaved some of the hedge with his front feet as he reached for the top and landed almost on even terms. *Dolly's Love was first to get to running across the Widener Chute. Jockey Slate turned to his stick and gave *Cottesmore a terrific lacing. With sobbing hearts these two great 'chasers pounded through the rather indefinite course of the stretch.

There is no rail to help guide a horse in a charging drive to the finish, in fact there are some deceptive outlines, from the Widener Chute, the Widener finish pole and the hedges along the mutual machine. Jockey Slate had a great advantage with *Cottesmore laid against *Dolly's Love's off side in the finish and gave Roby at least an instant's apprehensiveness as he pinched him fairly close to the Widener finish. With his whip flailing and *Cottesmore's heart surging in his great final effort, *Dolly's Love was beaten by a head.

Frankie Slate's Birthday

It was pretty big and happy returns for Jockey Frankie Slate who fairly lifted *Cottesmore in a spanking finish to win the Grand National Steeplechase Handicap and the $15,000 added last Friday, Oct. 4. In the final strides, *Cottesmore got up, bested *Dolly's Love by a head and enabled Slate to celebrate properly his birthday—he wouldn't admit his years.

*Cottesmore's Floral Shawl

George H. "Pete" Bostwick is an amazing all around horseman and sportsman. He it was who chose *Cottesmore as the horse to buy from Thomas Hitchcock, Sr., last spring. He it is who has trained the son of Heverswood—Ruddy Dawn. He it is who decided upon putting shoes on the Hitchcock 'chaser (most all of Mr. Hitchcock's horses run bare-footed), took the sting out of his feet, and in quick succession won: the Meadow Brook, June 4, (beating the late Saluda, Satilla, *Bachelor Philip, Bagpipe, Ad Lib, the late Farndale and Good Chance); the North American at Saratoga, (defeating the late Farndale, *Bachelor Phillip, *L'Odcon, Rioter and Night Heron); and the Beverwyck at Saratoga, (beating *Dolly's Love, this time giving 22 pounds, and Sussex). When they put on the winner's floral shawl, at the directions of Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, President of the Westchester Racing Assn., after the Grand National, despite the terrific 3 miles *Cottesmore went to nibbling at the flowers.

Gurdon Woods Back From West

The well known horse and dog sculptor, who has summered in the West, has returned to Virginia and is now busy with a head of Frederick Warburg's great Battle Day hunter, considered by many to be the finest heavyweight thoroughbred hunter in the Old Dominion today. Gurdon intends to headquarter in the hunt-country this autumn, with periodic trips, such as this week-end when he has an exhibition of his dogs at the Wilmington Kennel Club Show. Among his works to be shown this week-end there will be Mrs. Laurens M. Hamilton's Perrier, a Jones terrier and Mrs. William Doeller's Bluey, a Kerry Blue. Among Gurdon's successes with horses have been Mrs. Norman Toerge's great Camp of the showing and Mrs. Betty Willets Jenkins' Carlisle Hill of the hunting field.

Wayne Dinsmore Fourth

Wayne Dinsmore, Secretary of the Horse and Mule Assn., of America, advises that he rode in the recent 100 Mile Trail Ride, held near Chicago, and that the route was actually 110 miles due to the "exigencies of the daily course which made it necessary to go more than the allotted distance." Mr. Dinsmore finished 4th, with his horse in good shape. "The decision was absolutely correct, for there were better horses above me. We got a lot of pictures which Harold Smith will send along with his story."

Cuba to Jump At National

Cuba will send a team to compete in the nightly international military jumping at the National Horse Show, Nov. 7-13. The Cuban officers and mounts sailed this week on the S. S. Oriente. What with the Chilean jumping horses already on hand and the Mexican horses en route, the polo flats on Governors Island will take on an international aspect this week as jumpers are put through conditioning exercises.

Returning Elkridge-Harford Member

Mrs. Ralph Crimmins, of Ireland, is back in Maryland once again for the fall hunting; has settled down in her apartment in the clubhouse. Her first day out she got a branch in the face, and a scratched forehead. Mrs. Jane Fowler Bassett, who has bought a house in the Elkridge-Harford country, is busy renovating. She spent a long summer in Montana. Missoula to be specific and had some elk-shooting before returning, just in time to see her First Alarm win the Master's Plate, 2 1-2 miles over brush at Huntingdon Valley last Saturday.

The Bruces' Maryland Hunting

Julia Morris Bruce and sister Rosalie have been hunting with the Elkridge-Harford until Rosalie's recent tramping to boarding school in Catonsville "Jay" however tells of how she will be out off and on all fall, between hunts with the Howard County which is at the Bruce family's back door. Her father, Howard Bruce, was much delighted when his Jay Jay won in the mud at Laurel last week, besting such horses as Roman and Pictor.

Army Horse Buyers

George Cutting, active Virginia Gold cup secretary, of Warrenton, is off to the wars, to Front Royal,

Va., for to buy horses for the Army. Likewise is "Cokey" Rathborne, coming down from his Long Island, with Nancy, to settle in Virginia this winter. He too has been designated to select horses for the cavalry, and will buy out of Front Royal. They are to take a house in the Blue Ridge Hunt country. Her sister Page, who has been in England for so long, now busies herself daily as an assistant to the editor of the Washington Times-Herald.

Du Ponts' Hunters

John W. C. Jackson, late of Leicestershire, brought over *Golden Eagle and *Jumpers Bump among others to this country last spring. The Felix du Pont Jrs., who go steadily with both Vicmead (Del.) and Orange County, (Va.) flew up to Bedminster N. J., and secured these horses. Ellie du Pont will hunt *Jumpers Bump, by Catalan—Success, by Scatwell, who has hunted 2 seasons with Meath and is related to Passive, winner of 12 straight brush races. Felix will be hunting *Golden Eagle, son of Sir Rowland, show ring winner at Bicester, Oxford and Lechlade.

Mr. Voss' Broken Ribs

Edward S. Voss, M. F. H. of Elkridge-Harford Hunt had a nasty fall about a week ago when his big black mare reared up, slipped into a hidden ditch and fell backward on her rider. Damages: four broken ribs and a broken collar-bone. James Park, field-master happened to be watching Mr. Voss at the time, saw the accident, sent daughter Edith flying for "Good Will Farm," only a few fields away, for a car.

Farmington Listens In

As an added excitement, spectators at the Farmington Horse Show's final day activities last Saturday were regaled with snatches of the Virginia-Yale game, as it was broadcast from New Haven. Needless to say, every time it was announced that the Virginia boys had scored a touchdown, the crowd broke into loud cheering, regardless of what was going on in the ring. Many of the performers looked puzzled over such unaccustomed demonstrations and one even knocked down a fence in his bewilderment.

Farmington Confusion

Much confusion covered the judging of the hunters under saddle at Farmington when it was discovered by the arbiters that Howard Haffner's *Roby E, who was to be placed in the ribbons, had been unwittingly sent from the ring. Proceedings were halted while word was sent to the stables for the son of Ajom—Love's Orb to be returned. He was put 3rd behind Anne Baker Philipp's Short Hair and Rock Spring Farm's Spy.

Mrs. Jackson's Hard Tack Filly The chestnut filly by Hard Tack—Sundina, by *Sun Briar which Mrs.

Cary Jackson paid the modest sum of $550 for in this year's Saratoga Yearling Sales topped the class of fillies at the Farmington Show, being placed over daughters of On Watch, *Sir Gallahad III and Chestnut Oak.

Dodsberg Trophy To Dodsberg

It must have been a slightly embarrassing moment for Truman Dodson at the Farmington Show when he and Fire Chief were announced winners of the local hunter class and thereby presented with the "Dodsberg Farm" Challenge Trophy, which he had himself donated to the show. Not a whit abashed by remarks of friends in the stands, however, he carried his trophy proudly from the ring, to lay it by for another year.

Some Old Masters

Some of the old sporting masters are on display in an exhibition of Mrs. Frank M. Wray of Berryville, Virginia. Mrs. Wray is an authority on antiques and has a well known shop at Williamsburg. The exhibition at Berryville was inspired by the many inquiries she has received for sporting paintings. Answering the demand through the cooperation of an agent in England has resulted in the importation of originals by J. N. Sartorius, Francis Sartorius, Byron Webb, J. A. Wheeler, J. F. Herring Sr., Alfred Dedreux, the French sporting painter, and J. E. Fernley. The Fernley is a group of horses, the painting is called the Stud Farm. The coloring in this painting signed and dated 1818 is exquisite. An interesting feature in the Dedreux pictures is the terrific action of the horses, in marked contrast to the English sporting painters of the time. The huntsman in the pair of Dedreux is, interestingly enough, on foot with two couple of red and white hounds on a leash. His horn is over his shoulder. The J. F. Herring Sr.'s, are a pair of farm scenes with rare, soft coloring. The painting by Byron Webb is of the Empress of Austria for whom no fence was said to be too large. She was a familiar figure in the Leicestershire country in the late 19th century. One of the Sartorius' paintings has a side saddle with a double pommel for above as well as beneath the leg.
